Bees Are Brilliant!

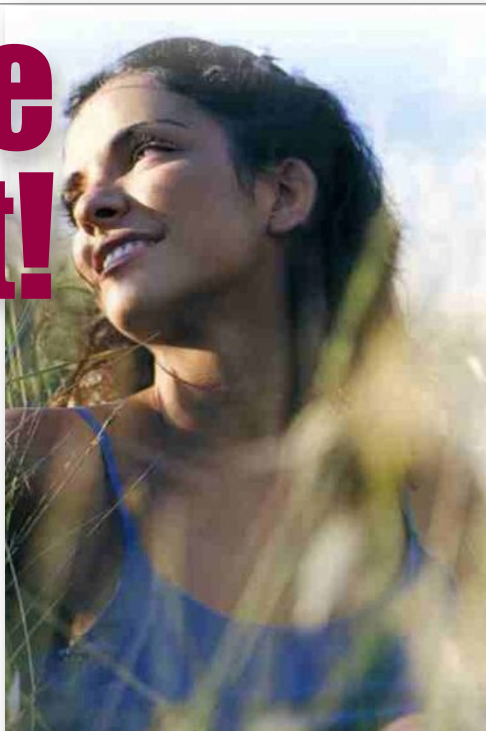

BEE POLLEN, BEE PROPOLIS and ROYAL JELLY have a long history of being used by mankind. Forever brings you a superior range of these products.

Bee pollen

Often referred to as nature's most complete food, bee pollen has a long history of rejuvenating the body. Human consumption of bee pollen is praised in the Bible, other religious books, and ancient Chinese and Egyptian texts. Bee pollen supplements have been known to increase energy levels, aid resistance to allergens, stimulate organs and glands, enhance vitality, and lengthen life. Many world class athletes and those interested in sustaining and enhancing quality performance enjoy the benefits that bee pollen products offer.

Bee Propolis

This is a resin collected from plants by bees and used in the construction of hives, the most sterile place in nature. Propolis is a highly complex mixture of waxes, resins, balsams, oils and a small amount of pollen. Propolis in its natural form is responsible for neutralising any bacteria, fungi or virus which enters the hive. Bee propolis contains bioflavonoids, one of which (galangin) is a natural antibiotic and has been used to treat TB, MRSA, ulcers, mitosis, colitis and to boost immunity. By increasing the activity of phagocytes (killer cells) bee propolis boosts the immune system. Bee propolis has been shown to destroy bacteria, viruses, fungus and even penicillin-resistant bacteria (staphylococcus). Bee propolis supplements can also help to stop inflammation by inhibiting prostaglandin production. By stimulating the immune system, this supplement works to alleviate inflammation of the mucous membranes of the mouth and the throat, dry cough, halitosis, tonsillitis, ulcers, and acne.

Beehive products can help with hay fever, general allergies, and so much more.

Royal Jelly

Thought to be as equally effective as pollen, this is a substance of complex chemical structure produced by the young nurse bees as larva food. They make royal jelly by secreting it from glands on the tops of their heads. This richly concentrated food contains remarkable amounts of proteins, lipids, glucides, vitamins, hormones, enzymes, mineral substances, and specific vital factors that act as biocatalysts in cell regeneration processes within the human body. Royal Jelly has been found to boost immunity, fight infection, increase energy levels to eliminate fatigue and can benefit the skin by reducing the effects of ageing.

Top Product Tips

Clean Bathroom

I have discovered a very useful side-effect of using our Aloe products in the bathroom – no soap scum! This makes a big difference when it comes to cleaning the sink, bath and shower. Our Liquid Soap, Bath [and shower] Gelée, Shampoo and Conditioner don't use soap or detergents – they only use the natural saponines (soapy substances) from the Aloe leaf. Of course, our MPD (Multi-Purpose detergent) is just fantastic for cleaning all surfaces too.

Cat Scratching Furniture

I arrived home from a training evening and our beloved cat for some reason was using my sofa and armchair as scratching posts! After several telling offs and him still not listening – I had a brainwave! I sprayed all said areas with Aloe Veterinary Formula, he gave me one of those looks, and stopped. Vet formula is now saving my sofa and armchairs!
